

Senators Not Sure New McCarthy Prober To Be 'Impartial'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Investigating senators said today they will ask Samuel P. Sears for new assurances that he could be fully impartial as special counsel in probing a row between Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) and top Army officials.

Sen. Potter (R-Mich.) said he will ask Sears to reflect on prior utterances praising McCarthy, and then say "if he still feels he can be impartial."

Sen. Jackson (D-Wash.), another Senate investigations subcommittee member said he also wants that done when the subcommittee again meets with Sears, probably Monday.

Sears, who flew back to Boston after meeting with the subcommittee here yesterday, told newsmen upon his arrival there he feels he has "not done anything that would disqualify me."

The prominent Boston trial lawyer told a news conference here yesterday he was determined to tackle the job as counsel "as dispassionately as I can," without any "partisanship."

Asked whether he had ever taken a stand on "McCarthy or McCarthyism," he told the reporters: "not publicly, and not privately."

Sen. Mundt (R-SD), who will preside at the televised public hearings, said Sears had given similar assurances at a closed meeting at which he agreed to take the post. So did other members.

But Boston newspaper files showed that Sears hailed McCarthy's reelection in November 1952 and said in a statement that the Wisconsin senator "has done a great job." And he will continue to do so as he drives the "pinks and commies" out of government.

The Harvard Crimson, student-edited daily at the university, quoted Sears on Nov. 12, 1952, as saying he tried to raise money to help McCarthy's campaign for reelection, to counter an anti-McCarthy fund drive at Harvard.

The Crimson said Sears told it in an interview that "I chased the senator all over Wisconsin trying to start a fund drive," and that "I felt that attempts to defeat Sen. McCarthy are ill-advised."

The Crimson also quoted Sears as saying McCarthy's defeat would have been a "blow to the welfare of the United States."

Americans for Democratic Action, said of Sears' selection: "The integrity of the Senate has been jeopardized by this obvious first step to whitewash Sen. McCarthy. Mr. Sears' public record of praise and support of McCarthy disqualifies him on grounds of both ethics and objectivity."

In New York, an aide said McCarthy would have no comment now on Sears' selection.

In announcing Sears' selection yesterday, Mundt said he thought it would clear the way for public hearings in the dispute to start week after next. Sears mentioned April 12 as a target date.

Both Mundt and Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.) expressed doubt that anything Sears said two years ago could be interpreted as indicating any prejudice in the present controversy between McCarthy, the subcommittee chairman, and Army officials.

An Army report has accused McCarthy and Roy M. Cohn, the subcommittee's chief counsel, of exerting pressure to win favored treatment for Pvt. G. David Schine, a former subcommittee consultant drafted last November.

McCarthy and Cohn disputed this, and McCarthy flung a coun-tercharge that Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens and John G. Adams, Army counselor, tried to "blackmail" him into calling off a subcommittee probe into what the senator has called "codding" of Communists in the Army.

Mundt said Sears would return here Monday to consult with subcommittee members about "ground rules" for the conduct of the hearings and to arrange for a staff to assist him.

Firefighting Needs Likely To Hurry Levy

Council's Silence On Setup Stirs New Questions

With another regular meeting of City Council due next Tuesday, the lawmakers this week gave no indication they had decided on a line of action to solve the problem of better fire protection for growing Circleville.

Council's failure to act on the firefighting needs, labeled urgent in a meeting on Feb. 16, tended to:

1. Strengthen belief that a proposed city levy of some form will soon be unveiled in final detail as the only way to obtain badly needed funds.
2. Confirm unofficial reports that the city's efforts to reach a firefighting agreement with two townships has bogged down under new objections.
3. Focus renewed public attention on the whole weary picture of municipal revenues, including an increase of more than $10,000 in 1954 appropriations from the corresponding total for last year.

DEMANDS For better firefighting facilities in Circleville, it was widely believed, will have to be the straw-on-the-back for the city treasury, already sagging under other major needs and facing more in prospect. "Some form" of city income tax has been mentioned frequently in Council meetings, and more recently has been referred to as a "fire protection levy."

Public suspicions that the taxpayers will soon get the raw, rough news in official form were aroused when Council—after an enthusiastic meeting on Feb. 16—failed in later sessions to call up the fire department improvements for formal action. Ordinances relating to changes in fire equipment and personnel, typed and turned in by City Solicitor George Gerhardt, were kept on the sidetrack at both Council meetings during March.

Officially there was no reason for the delay, but unofficially it was said most of the wait is due to a reluctance by the individual lawmakers to demand prompt decisions on the much-mentioned proposal for a new city tax.

Mayor Bob Hedges has indicated he feels the taxpayers should be given a definite tax proposal at the earliest possible date, holding the view that such action is the only way to make both ends (Continued on Page Two)

New York Mirror Editor Is Dead

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—Death has taken versatile, prolific newspaperman Jack Lait, 72, editor of the New York Mirror.

A reporter and executive of Hearst newspapers for more than half a century, he died at his home here yesterday after an illness of nearly two years.

Lait, who found time to write vaudeville sketches, screen plays, stage plays, novels and columns during a busy career, suffered a stroke and went to a hospital last December. Later he returned home. A circulatory ailment had kept him confined.

Lima Hospital Guard Suspended

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio Civil Service Commission announced today it has received notice of suspension of a guard at Lima State Hospital.

Hospital Supt. R. E. Bushong said David Porter, attendant, was suspended seven days for sleeping on duty. Earlier this week two other attendants were suspended 14 days each for "mismanagement" of patients.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government reported today unemployment increased by 54,000 in March to a total of 3,725,000. It was the smallest increase in six months.

Hurry!

I hereby firmly oppose any form of diplomatic recognition for Communist China and also any move to admit the Chinese Reds to the United Nations.

Public Responding To Fight On Reds

Residents of Circleville and from all over the rest of Pickaway County were responding in growing numbers Friday to the opportunity to help keep the Chinese Communists out of the United Nations.

Diplomats predict Soviet Russia will make a new and stronger effort on April 26 to have the Chinese Reds accepted to UN membership. Russia's latest strategy is expected to unfold at the Far East Conference in Geneva, Switzerland.

In anticipation of the Russian move, and to give Pickaway County its own share in the expected American protest, The Herald has encouraged district residents to sign either petitions or coupons, which will then be hurried to Washington, D. C., to emphasize public sentiment here.

A coupon to make signing more convenient for readers appears in today's issue, and petitions for the same purpose are waiting to be signed at The Herald offices, 210 N. Court St. Some of the petitions are also being circulated among Circleville business establishments.

THE COUPONS, along with a listing of signatures from the petitions, will be hurried to Ohio's spokesmen in the U. S. Senate, John Bricker and Thomas Burke, prior to the date of the Geneva conference.

Many international observers think Russia may try to win French support for admission of the Reds by offering the French a truce in the Indochina struggle. British spokesmen have already said they feel it would be good diplomacy to have the Chinese Communists in the United Nations.

Among the first to sign a coupon of protest against any such move was I. W. Kinsey, Circleville clothier. And among the first to voice verbal support for the drive was Mayor Robert Hedges.

"It's something that everybody in the district should rush to support," he said. "And I emphasize the hurry because the signed protests will have to be sent in advance of the Geneva conference in order for them to have effect."

"Our national leaders, of course, are already determined to fight any move to admit the Chinese Reds to the UN—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles has made that clear. But the idea here is to let them know, immediately, that they have the sentiment of plain, everyday Americans behind them."

"I encourage one and all to join in this splendid move launched by The Herald."

Several persons may sign the one coupon if they wish. Then it should be mailed promptly to The Herald, or delivered to the newspaper in any way found convenient. Readers can also turn their signed and clipped coupon over to the Herald newsboy, with instructions to deliver it to the office.

Senators probing the McCarthy Army row have their special investigator at last, but some of them now say they want to make doubly sure he will be completely impartial.

In the wake of disclosures that Samuel P. Sears had made past statements in praise of Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.), Sen. Jackson (D-Wash.), another investigations subcommittee member, voices like intentions.

Sears won unanimous subcommittee approval.

Public Housing Bill Nearing Tell-Tale Vote

Some Solons Predict Possible Increase In VA And FHA Interest

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republican leaders hoped to push through the House today a controversial proposal to keep President Eisenhower's public housing program alive with authority for 35,000 new units after next fiscal year.

With one bloc of House members bent on killing public housing and another bloc aiming at a much bigger program, GOP strategists conceded the vote could be close.

Time to vote on a 226-page re-vamping of housing laws approached after a week-long scrap. Major issues include interest rates on Federal Housing Administration and GI loans, easier terms for FHA home buyers, and the availability of money for mortgages.

Republican sponsors told the House yesterday the bill would assure a record of 1,400,000 new houses this year, help to tear down slums and improve older homes.

Chairman Wolcott (R-Mich.) of the Banking Committee said the program should "satisfy the most liberal member and yet not alarm the most conservative."

BUT MANY Democrats insisted it was inadequate and would lead to higher interest rates on veterans' home loans.

Other opponents accused sponsors of the bill of trying to "out-deal the New Deal."

Republican leaders said an appropriations bill passed Wednesday would leave authority to build 35,000 low-rent public housing units in the fiscal year starting July 1, although this was in dispute.

They planned an amendment to the omnibus housing bill to authorize another 35,000 units in the following fiscal year.

They said this would be a good start on President Eisenhower's request for 35,000 units each year for four years and the latter two years could be considered later.

Lausche Lashes Trucker Racket

COLUMBUS (AP)—Acting on information from Highway Safety Director U. C. Felty, Gov. Frank J. Lausche has moved to crack a truck unloading racket in Ohio.

Yesterday Lausche called a meeting of state, county and city officials for April 20 to discuss the need for an Ohio law aimed at breaking the racket, which he described this way:

Roving bands of men force truckers to hire unneeded help before they can unload. The unwanted helpers collect a full day's pay of $15, often without doing any work. Seven truckers at one dock were forced to pay $112 in one day to the "helpers."

No Buying Surge

A national survey by the Associated Press showed that merchants generally expected the tax cut to spur buying, but most of them said there had been no noticeable reaction the first day.

Babe Gives Ike Golf Lesson As Cancer Drive Gets Start

WASHINGTON (AP)—Babe Didrikson Zaharias helped President Eisenhower open the 1954 drive for funds against cancer last night and also gave him a few professional pointers on his golf game.

Last year the famous Babe came down with cancer herself. There was talk for a while that she never would be able to play golf again. But a few months after an operation she was belting the ball as of old, and still is.

At the White House, Babe and Mrs. Eisenhower watched as the President passed a pellet of radioactive cobalt, used in cancer research, over a Geiger counter.

That generated an impulse which was transmitted by wire to New York's Times Square, where it illuminated a 70-foot crusader's sword, symbol of the American Cancer Society.

Illumination of the sword signaled the start of the society's drive for $20 million to fight the disease.

When the President's part in the ceremony was concluded, Mrs. Zaharias stepped up and told him she had prepared a long speech on the work of the society.

"But I think I'll just talk to you a little about your golf," she said.

"How is your golf?"

"Well," the President laughed, "it could be better. But as long as I've got people like you to emulate, I'll be all right."

"I hope one of these days to have a game with you, and I won't be afraid to take a lot of strokes."

When the President and the First Lady entered the broadcasting room where the cancer fund ceremony was held, the Babe was grasping the pointed end of a wooden sword and was swinging as she would a golf club.

Eisenhower smiled and volunteered to send upstairs for the real thing. They settled for the improvised club, however, and the Babe proceeded to give him a few tips about his grip.

The President confided he has been having a little trouble with it, and before he was through he had the sword in hands, demonstrating just what he meant.

Mrs. Zaharias showed him how to correct the trouble, and the President expressed his thanks.

MEMBERS of the Senate investigations subcommittee named Samuel P. Sears (center), 59-year-old Boston attorney, as chief counsel in its probe of the dispute between chairman Joseph McCarthy and the Army. Acting chairman Karl Mundt (R), S. D., (left) said the selection paves the way for public hearings within two weeks. Senator Henry Jackson (right) beams his approval.

Senate OKs Hawaii-Alaska Statehood, But Block Seen

WASHINGTON (AP)—Hawaii and Alaska, fresh from a Senate triumph, headed toward a new obstacle today in their quest for statehood.

The Senate yesterday rebuffed efforts of opponents to sidetrack a bill to admit both territories as states and passed it 57-28.

But some lawmakers, predicting trouble in the House, felt the Senate victory might turn into an ironic April Fool's joke.

Danger to the statehood bill in the House comes from the Senate's action, largely maneuvered by Democrats, tying in Alaska to what was originally a bill to admit only Hawaii.

Some Alaska statehood advocates expressed hope President Eisenhower could be persuaded to lift his own and his party's objections, which have been based on the expressed ground that Alaska is not yet ready to become a state.

SEN. ANDERSON (D-NM) said "All he's got to do is take his foot off Alaska and this bill will pass."

House Republican leaders already have announced they do not favor inclusion of Alaska in the legislation. The Republican-domi-

Thousands Of Fresh Troops Launch Drives In Southern Asia

HANOI, Indochina (AP)—Thousands of fresh Red-backed Vietnam rebel troops smashed into a French outpost about a mile northwest of the center of besieged Dien Bien Phu today and the French launched a heavy counterattack in an attempt to regain the position.

Other rebel forces crashed at the French Union fortress from the southeast in a gigantic pincers movement aimed at the heart of the bastion.

At the same time, Vietminh troops crossed the frontier from Laos into Cambodia with new fighting going on between the Communist-led rebels and Cambodian forces.

Results were not yet known, a dispatch from Phnom Penh, capital of Cambodia, said.

A brief French communique said Dien Bien Phu defenders had "violently counterattacked" the Communist-led rebels each time they rushed at the two corners of the hill-encircled plain 175 miles west of Hanoi.

THERE WAS savage hand-to-hand fighting as the French forces repeatedly beat back the rebels trying to break through into the plain's headquarters center.

As the second major Vietminh attempt to overwhelm Dien Bien Phu raged on into its third day, the fighting was so furious the French had no chance to estimate the losses on either side. They had said earlier that the rebels lost some 2,000 of their estimated 40,000 attackers in the first 48 hours.

The attack on the northwest was the first in that sector of the current drive on the French fortress, though the rebels in their first mass frontal attack on the plain three weeks ago had taken two posts in the center of the northern defense perimeter.

In the current attack, until today, they had kept a division of some 10,000 men poised on the plain's western fringes while two other divisions attacked repeatedly on the east and southeast.

The French admitted last night they had lost three eastern out-

Air General Vandenberg Dies At 55

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, Air Force chief of staff from 1948 until his retirement from service last June, died this afternoon. He was 55.

"General Van," as he was known to airmen everywhere, had been a patient in the Army's Walter Reed Hospital here since last October, when he was admitted "for observation and checkup." He was in virtual seclusion during the last months of his illness, too sick to receive many visitors.

The Air Force declined to state the nature of his illness but private physicians who attended him in a 1952 operation said it was found then that he was suffering from cancer of the prostate gland and that subsequently the malignancy spread to the hips, spine and other bones.

The second man to hold the job of Air Force chief of staff, Vandenberg succeeded Gen. Carl (Toey) Spaatz. In that role, he led the fight to rebuild the U. S. Air Force, dismantled after World War II, into a position of world air leadership.

It was Vandenberg who decided to concentrate the nation's air might in long-range, speedy planes capable of striking deep into the heart of any enemy anywhere in the world.

COLUMBUS (AP)—The public Utilities Commission of Ohio says it will issue an order on installation of new natural gas heating equipment as soon as possible.

Yesterday many Ohio gas companies urged most restrictions be removed at a commission hearing.

When it ended, Commission Chairman Ray O. Martin said: "The commission is aware of the importance of this hearing and will get out its order at the earliest possible date."

Ohio Fuel Gas Co. led a group of firms which say they can meet the public's demand for gas. But Toledo Edison Co. and National Gas Oil Corp.-Newark Consumers Gas Co. said they were not prepared to serve all who want gas for home or industry use.

Ohio Fuel said it now is ready to serve 75,000 applicants for home gas consumption.

It asked, however, the commission continue to (1) require applicant registration; (2) permit the company to defer installations until equipment can be approved and (3) authorize it to require commercial space - heating applicants using more than one million British thermal units per hour to have standby heating equipment.

French Battle To Save Area From Commies

Thousands Of Fresh Troops Launch Drives In Southern Asia

HANOI, Indochina (AP)—Thousands of fresh Red-backed Vietnam rebel troops smashed into a French outpost about a mile northwest of the center of besieged Dien Bien Phu today and the French launched a heavy counterattack in an attempt to regain the position.

Other rebel forces crashed at the French Union fortress from the southeast in a gigantic pincers movement aimed at the heart of the bastion.

At the same time, Vietnam troops crossed the frontier from Laos into Cambodia with new fighting going on between the Communist-led rebels and Cambodian forces.

Results were not yet known, a dispatch from Phnom Penh, capital of Cambodia, said.

A brief French communique said Dien Bien Phu defenders had "violently counterattacked" the Communist-led rebels each time they rushed at the two corners of the hill-encircled plain 175 miles west of Hanoi.

THERE WAS savage hand-to-hand fighting as the French forces repeatedly beat back the rebels trying to break through into the plain's headquarters center.

As the second major Vietnam attempt to overwhelm Dien Bien Phu raged on into its third day, the fighting was so furious the French had no chance to estimate the losses on either side. They had said earlier that the rebels lost some 2,000 of their estimated 40,000 attackers in the first 48 hours.

The attack on the northwest was the first in that sector of the current drive on the French fortress, though the rebels in their first mass frontal attack on the plain three weeks ago had taken two posts in the center of the northern defense perimeter.

In the current attack, until today, they had kept a division of some 10,000 men poised on the plain's western fringes while two other divisions attacked repeatedly on the east and southeast.

The French admitted last night they had lost three eastern out-

Senate OKs Hawaii-Alaska Statehood, But Block Seen

WASHINGTON (AP)—Hawaii and Alaska, fresh from a Senate triumph, headed toward a new obstacle today in their quest for statehood.

The Senate yesterday rebuffed efforts of opponents to sidetrack a bill to admit both territories as states and passed it 57-25.

But some lawmakers, predicting trouble in the House, felt the Senate victory might turn into an ironic April Fool's joke.

Danger to the statehood bill in the House comes from the Senate's action, largely maneuvered by Democrats, tying in Alaska to what was originally a bill to admit only Hawaii.

Some Alaska statehood advocates expressed hope President Eisenhower could be persuaded to lift his own and his party's objections, which have been based on the expressed ground that Alaska is not yet ready to become a state.

SEN. ANDERSON (D-NM) said "All he's got to do is take his foot off Alaska and this bill will pass."

House Republican leaders already have announced they do not favor inclusion of Alaska in the legislation. The Republican-dominated House Rules Committee has kept an Alaska statehood proposal bottled up for 10 months.

Alaska usually votes Democratic, Hawaii Republican.

Under the bill as passed by the Senate, Hawaii and Alaska upon becoming states would be entitled to two senators each.

In addition, Hawaii would have two voting representatives in the House and Alaska one. The House bill provided only one representative for Hawaii.

The measure the Senate passed yesterday could go to conference between the two houses, but one member's objection from the House floor could block such handling except by action of the Rules Committee.

Sen. Cordon (R-Ore), floor manager for the bill, said he does not know whether the House would accept the tandem bill but he pointed out it has previously passed bills to give each territory statehood. He said he plans to press the White House for endorsement of the bill.

Thirty-three Senate Republicans, 23 Democrats and one independent joined forces in passing the bill over the opposition of nine Republicans and 19 Democrats.

The final vote came after the Senate rejected 60-24 a proposal that commonwealth status be substituted for statehood, and turned back 59-26 an amendment which would have required voters of Alaska and Hawaii to choose between state and commonwealth status.

"He never told me," Mrs. Nesbitt said when informed of the slaying yesterday. "He was a wonderful man. He couldn't have been more tender."

Public Housing Bill Nearing Tell-Tale Vote

Eisenhower to fix interest rates on loans insured by the Veterans Administration and the FHA up to a point 2 1/2 per cent above the average yield on long-term government bonds.

At the present market, this would be a maximum of 5 1/4 per cent interest. The current maximum on GI loans is 4 1/2 per cent. The rate of FHA loans is 5 per cent although the present law permits even higher rates.

Democrats planned a strong protest against the possible boost in interest rates.

THE HOUSE voted tentatively yesterday to permit Eisenhower to drop down payments on FHA home loans even lower than the President had proposed. The bill merely gives the President power to provide the easier terms and does not make them mandatory.

Under the bill as brought to the House, the minimum down payment on a home valued by FHA at $12,000 could be reduced from $2,400 to $1,400; at $15,000, from $3,000 to $2,150; and at $20,000, from $4,000 to $3,400.

The amendment would permit down payments to be lowered in additional $400 in each case. But it was subject to reversal on a rollcall vote today.

Methodist Church Planning Sacred Service For Public

The Senior Choir of the First Methodist Church will present a sacred cantata, "Olivet to Calvary," by J. N. Maunders, Sunday at 4 p. m.

The cantata recalls simply and reverently the scenes which mark the last days of the Savior's life on earth. The rejoicing of the multitudes with hosannas and palms, the view of Jerusalem from the steep slopes of Mount Olivet, the lament over the beautiful city, the scene in the temple, and the lonely walk back over Olivet at night, form the chief features of the first part.

Part two opens with the Supper of the Passover, at which Jesus washes his disciples' feet, and gives to his friends the new commandment of love for one another as the sign of true discipleship.

From this the scene passes to the Garden of Gethsemane, the sudden appearance of the hostile crowd, Jesus forsaken by his disciples, his utter loneliness among ruthless foes, the tumult before Pilate in the Judgment Hall, the Passage of the cross, the tragedy and triumph of Calvary.

MRS. HAROLD Defenbaugh will direct the choir and Mrs. Ervin Leist will accompany the choir on the organ. Solo parts will be taken by Mrs. Larry Graham, soprano; Mrs. Lillian Avis, soprano; Mrs. D. J. Carpenter, soprano; Mrs. Myron Pettit, contralto; Gene Cronenwett, tenor; Charles Kirkpatrick, baritone; Dr. Lloyd Sprouse, baritone; Elliott Barnhill, baritone; Dr. Paul Jackson, baritone; and Barton Deming, bass.

This service of sacred music is open to the public.

Two Members Tell Hobbies To Rotarians

Photography and growing roses—two widely separated subjects but with a common ground—were the topics on hobbies at the Thursday noon meeting of the Circleville Rotary Club. Main speakers were Mac Noggle and Cliff Beaver.

Beaver gave a demonstration of different types of photographic equipment, both new and old. He displayed a new type camera which develops the picture inside the camera.

Beaver pointed out some of the picture-taking secrets in getting better results. Patience and practice, he stressed, are essential for good photography.

Mac Noggle also touched on the photography subject but concentrated more on his talk on the growing of roses. He told of his experiences in raising flowers.

BOTH SPEAKERS agreed that many people take their hobbies too seriously. Noggle expressed belief that some do not get as much enjoyment from their hobbies as they should. He stated that every person should have a hobby in order to occupy some of his spare time. And this person should get benefit as well as pleasure from such activity, Noggle reminded his listeners.

Attending the interesting and informative meeting were Ronnie Dowden and Tom Elsea, representatives from the Circleville High School.

posts but said the heart and main arteries of the bastion were still intact. Fighting raged in that sector off and on throughout yesterday as the black-clad rebels, armed with containers of high explosive rushed through withering machine-gun fire to the barbed wire barricades.

The desperate French Union forces—French, North Africans, Vietnamese, Thai tribesmen and Foreign Legionnaires—fought hand to hand with those who broke through the fire. The French hit back also with six tank-led counterattacks into enemy hill positions around Dien Bien Phu.

DESPITE THE violent attacks, the garrison commander, Col. Christian de Castries, radioed army headquarters in Hanoi last night that his troops' morale was high and he believed they could hold on although outnumbered 4-1. But in Paris, the French Press Agency reported that De Castries had appealed for more reinforcements.

Strong winds and Vietnam anti-aircraft fire made it difficult yesterday for French planes to swoop low over the saucer-shaped valley to parachute in supplies and troops—the only means of supplying the fortress.

American civilian pilots helped with the task, piloting giant Flying Boxcars which dropped ammunition and other U. S.-supplied war material.

Council Silence On Fire Needs Hints New Levy

meet on firefighting costs which can't be sidestepped. Hedges has expressed concern over any decision to delay voting on a "fire protection levy" until the November elections.

He and several other officials warn that if the matter isn't placed before the voters before that time, memories of the Maizo Mill fire and resultant emergency here will be dimmed to an extent that the levy will go to the polls with two strikes already on it. Major problem facing any earlier vote, however, would be the added costs of a special election. Sentiment for the levy began to crystallize too late to have it placed on the ballot at the May primaries.

The city's plans for a satisfactory firefighting pact with Circleville and Washington townships—to replace a temporary contract now in operation—represent a big chunk of the gloomy jig-saw that makes up the municipal revenue picture.

OFFICIAL SPOKESMEN at first announced the townships had agreed to a revised plan under which they would pay, according to their tax valuation, into a city fund which would be earmarked for new firefighting equipment. When follow-through action on this failed to materialize, however, it was learned Circleville Township—and presumably Washington too—has objected to the latest plan as being too costly for the rural areas.

Revenue anticipated from the pact with the townships was being figured in on part of the move to improve the city's own fire protection.

Meanwhile, figures from the office of City Auditor Lillian Young underlined the increased cost of city government over last year, caused chiefly by needs of the new municipal court.

Council has frequently expressed belief that operations of the new court here will provide enough spark to push Circleville out of its financial worries. But in recent weeks—largely because of the demands for new firefighting expenditures—it has become doubtful whether such help from the court's proceeds can come soon enough to avoid extraordinary revenue-raising steps.

Miss Young's report showed total appropriations for 1953 were $267,906.60, rising to $278,540.97 for the current year.

Appropriations by departments, with the 1953 total first and this year's second, were listed as follows:

General fund, $14,138.04, $23,209.72; police department, $41,814.55, $49,069.65; parking meters, $2,618, $3,268; fire department, $25,385, $25,980; health department, $6,575, 6,725; service department, $23,522.25, $24,786.60; playground, $1,200, $1,300; outdoor relief, $1,584.06, $1,000;

Water department, 76,394.50, $71,510; sewage department, $26,835, $24,942; gasoline tax fund, $25,800, $25,400; auto street repair fund, $22,040.20, $21,250.

HOUSING—A big fight is in prospect as the House comes up to a vote on a Republican leadership effort to keep President Eisenhower's public housing program alive with authority for 35,000 new units after next fiscal year.

The vote may be close, with one House bloc aiming to kill public housing and another faction fighting for a much larger program.

STATEHOOD—The House Rules Committee may hold the key to Hawaii and Alaska statehood hopes. The Senate yesterday passed a bill to make both territories into states. The House so far has passed only Hawaii statehood legislation. An Alaska statehood bill has been gathering dust on a Rules Committee shelf for 10 months.

TAFT-HARTLEY — The House Labor Committee nears completion of its bill to revise the Taft-Hartley Act. Still facing the group are three key issues involving states rights in labor disputes, Eisenhower's strike vote proposal, and a final decision on whether to turn over to the federal courts some of the powers now held by the NLRB.

Grain Storage Rate Is Set Up

WASHINGTON (AP)—To help meet a storage problem growing out of the existence of large surpluses, the Agriculture Department has set up a new scale of per-bushel prices for grains stored on farms under price support. The department wants farmers to extend government price support loans on 1952 and 1953 crop grains another year.

The storage rate will be 15 cents a bushel for a 12-month storage period for corn, 11 cents for oats, 15 cents for barley, and 16 cents for flaxseed.

The new storage rates for reseeded wheat vary by regions and cover an 11-month period. They include 15 cents a bushel for Ohio.

Public Housing Bill Nearing Tell-Tale Vote

Eisenhower to fix interest rates on loans insured by the Veterans Administration and the FHA up to a point 2 1/2 per cent above the average yield on long-term government bonds.

At the present market, this would be a maximum of 5 1/2 per cent interest. The current maximum on GI loans is 4 1/2 per cent. The rate of FHA loans is 5 per cent although the present law permits even higher rates.

Democrats planned a strong protest against the possible boost in interest rates.

THE HOUSE voted tentatively yesterday to permit Eisenhower to drop down payments on FHA home loans even lower than the President had proposed. The bill merely gives the President power to provide the easier terms and does not make them mandatory.

Under the bill as brought to the House, the minimum down payment on a home valued by FHA at $12,000 could be reduced from $2,400 to $1,400; at $15,000, from $3,000 to $2,150; and at $20,000, from $4,000 to $3,400.

The amendment would permit down payments to be lowered in additional $400 in each case. But it was subject to reversal on a rollcall vote today.

Methodist Church Planning Sacred Service For Public

The Senior Choir of the First Methodist Church will present a sacred cantata, "Olivet to Calvary," by J. N. Maunders, Sunday at 4 p. m.

The cantata recalls simply and reverently the scenes which mark the last days of the Savior's life on earth. The rejoicing of the multitudes with hosannas and palms, the view of Jerusalem from the steep slopes of Mount Olivet, the lament over the beautiful city, the scene in the temple, and the lonely walk back over Olivet at night, form the chief features of the first part.

Part two opens with the Supper of the Passover, at which Jesus washes his disciples' feet, and gives to his friends the new commandment of love for one another as the sign of true discipleship.

From this the scene passes to the Garden of Gethsemane, the sudden appearance of the hostile crowd, Jesus forsaken by his disciples, his utter loneliness among ruthless foes, the tumult before Pilate in the Judgment Hall, the Passage of the cross, the tragedy and triumph of Calvary.

MRS. HAROLD Defenbaugh will direct the choir and Mrs. Ervin Leist will accompany the choir on the organ. Solo parts will be taken by Mrs. Lillian Avis, soprano; Mrs. D. J. Carpenter, soprano; Mrs. Myron Pettit, contralto; Gene Cronewett, tenor; Charles Kirkpatrick, baritone; Dr. Lloyd Sprouse, baritone; Elliott Barnhill, baritone; Dr. Paul Jackson, baritone; and Barton Deming, bass.

This service of sacred music is open to the public.

WASHINGTON (AP) — For five memorable days in mid-March Sen. McCarthy's fight with the Army held at white heat. Then it visibly cooled while his Senate committee looked for an outside lawyer to investigate the case.

For lack of developments, the McCarthy story gradually disappeared from the front pages. The Wisconsin Republican himself began to call it "a tempest in a teapot."

Sen. Mundt (R-S.D.), who says he considers McCarthy one of his best friends, talked as though he sought to minimize its importance too. Mundt, acting as chairman in McCarthy's place for this investigation, led the search for the lawyer.

He must be, said Mundt, a man "as fairminded as an eminent judge."

Mundt first tried the president of the American Bar Assn., who turned it down. Yesterday the committee decided it had found the man.

Samuel Powers Sears of Boston, 58-year-old Republican trial lawyer who collects gold toothpicks as a hobby and was three times president of the Massachusetts Bar Assn.

The committee talked 45 minutes with Sears and then picked him unanimously.

Sears said he could act "dispassionately."

Soon it appeared that at least some of the committee members want to ask him some more questions. It wasn't long before they found they hadn't learned all that was known on where Sears stood, or had stood, on McCarthy.

When newsmen asked Sears, long an outspoken foe of communism if he had ever taken a stand on McCarthy or "McCarthyism," he said he never had, publicly or privately. Mundt and other committee members said they had asked the same question and received the same answer.

Shortly afterwards news came from Boston—by way of newspaper files and the Harvard Crimson, university undergraduate daily—that Sears had spoken out publicly more than once in favor of McCarthy, but not later than two years ago.

He was quoted as saying McCarthy "has done a great job" and the loss of McCarthy to the Senate (in the 1952 elections) would be a "blow to the United States."

Harvard Prof. Mark Howe, who had opposed McCarthy's re-election, called Sears' appointment yesterday "incredible." He said he had debated with Sears and that the latter "was willing to excuse any McCarthy tactic."

Two members of the committee—Senators Potter (R-Mich) and Jackson (D-Wash) said they will ask Sears to look back on his past statements and say if he still feels he can do an "impartial" job.

Two other senators—Mundt and McClellan (D-Ark)—said they doubted anything said two years ago could be taken as indicating prejudice in McCarthy's present fight with Army officials.

The Democratic members—the third was Sen. Symington (D-Mo)—said they were unaware of something else about Sears; that 10 days ago he expressed—to Sen. Saltonstall (R-Mass) and Rep. Curtis (R-Mass)—an "interest" in the job.

The McCarthy-Army row revolves around G. David Schine, an unpaid worker on McCarthy's staff until he was drafted.

An Army report alleged that McCarthy and his chief counsel, Roy Cohn, tried through pressure on the Army to get special treatment for Schine.

McCarthy and Cohn disputed this, and in turn charged Army officials had tried to "blackmail" them into ceasing their investigation of its handling of subversive suspects. This charge, too, was denied.

When McCarthy's committee decided March 16 to investigate the whole dispute, tension seemed to ease, news grew scarcer and McCarthy began talking as if it was all just a dispute between two other guys. "This blowup between Cohn and Adams," he said, John Adams, Army counsel, was in the midst of the quarrel over Schine.

Mundt echoed McCarthy, he said he was at a loss to understand the "feverish interest" in the case. Although there were charges of blackmail and intimidation, nobody yielded to them, Mundt said.

"Involved here at worst," he added, "are misconduct and misrepresentation by one or more in-

Great Talent Requires Gimmick, High School Reunion Boys Say

By CARROLL ARIMOND
(For Hal Boyle)

CHICAGO (AP)—The invitation to the 25th reunion of the high school graduating class didn't get much of a welcome. It conjured visions of hours of backslapping, exchanging of baby pictures and shouts to "good ole Pinkie."

But it turned out much better. Larry, who raised his tuition money by working nights in a bakery and caught up on his sleep in the classes for which he paid the tuition, now is a professional feeder. His firm puts out the meals for scores of Milwaukee factories and institutions. Larry served the reunion dinner.

The principal remarks were by Ed, a shy, red-haired lad a quarter century ago who had become a university president. Around him were John, a medical school dean; Paul, an engineering college regent; Tom, a Navy commander who flew in from the Pacific Coast on, as one classmate put it, our defense bonds; Ralph, an active alderman, and Jack, an inactive state legislator because of a recent election.

When the reunion broke up at its original meeting place, however, it did not move on to the president's residence, to the deanery, the regency or the commandery. It shifted almost en masse to the establishment of Tony, the one member of the class who had become a saloonkeeper.

Tony's place, in a residential neighborhood, is the "Sketch Club" and once inside we all understood the name. The walls were papered with drawings in the same bold technique Tony had used in adorning the fly leaves of "Caesar's Gallic War" with caricatures of Julius himself. Tony smoothed his white apron at his waist and told his story.

"When I got out of schools," he began, "I went into commercial art. I had no real formal training at it, but you fellows remember how I always liked to draw. I studied art on the side and did what I think was some good work."

"Then in the 30s came the depression. If there was one thing people could get along without, it was commercial art. So I had to find something else to do."

"I tried a lot of things without much success. Then I got the idea of running a tavern. But other tavernkeepers were starving."

3 Youths Sought In Bank Robbery

BALTIMORE (AP)—FBI and local police combed East Baltimore today on almost a door-to-door basis for any "drapes" answering the description of three youths who took $30,000 from a Provident Savings Bank branch office yesterday. The three, wearing "drape" type haircuts, sporting waist-length jackets and dark glasses, held three bank employees and 10 customers at gunpoint while they gathered up the cash in a shopping bag.

They entered the bank during the late morning business peak, just a few minutes after a Brinks armored car had delivered $23,000 in cash to the bank.

Judge Dismisses Case Against Lad

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Kindly Juvenile Court Judge Talbot Ellis dismissed charges yesterday against Billy McGowan for freeing his doomed pet Jiggs and 20 other dogs from the city pound.

Judge Ellis said he believed the dogs were freed accidentally, as the 12-year-old boy had said when he was charged with malicious mischief.

When Jiggs was picked up as a stray after following Billy to school, the boy didn't have the $6 required for pound fees. He went to the pound for a "last visit" with Jiggs before the dog was placed in the gas chamber.

Billy testified that as he was leaving the pen his sleeve must have caught in a latch and opened the pen door. He said he was outside getting on his bicycle when Jiggs and the other dogs came running out.

While Tony was talking, he ran a piece of charcoal rapidly across a large tablet. He tore it off and handed it over. It was a sketch of the commander and me, far more accurate than those done by the Rembrandts in swank night clubs for the five bucks a copy.

Tony's tale made a lot of sense. It makes one understand why a great talent like Victor Borge has to play the "Blue Danube" waltz backward from upside down sheet music or Helen Traubel has to sing "Billy Bailey Won't You Please Come Home" to hold public interest.

Talent, whether it's for sketching, singing or mixing a Martini, isn't enough these days; you've got to have a gimmick.

Boy Is Injured In Rescue Try

CAMBRIDGE, Md. (AP)—When Tommy Creighton's house caught fire last night, the 12-year-old ran out and slammed the front door behind him. Then he remembered his pal Tubby was still inside.

Unable to re-enter the flaming living room. He ran to the rear of the one-story house and broke a bedroom window, badly cutting his fist. He was climbing into the smoke-filled room when firemen arrived and restrained him.

They found Tubby unconscious under a bed and carried the black and white spotted terrier outside.

For 30 minutes, as Tommy tearfully watched, they worked over Tubby, using artificial respiration and the department's new resuscitator.

Finally, they had to tell the youngster—Tubby was dead.

Teacher Cited For Punishing 14 Students

RUSKIN, Fla. (AP)—A 27-year-old mathematics teacher was suspended yesterday pending an investigation of charges that he punished 14 grammar school students by making them crawl on hands and knees across a hot asphalt basketball court at midday.

A. L. Vergason, director of education for Hillsborough County, said Carroll E. Fogal, father of two children, who has been teaching for three years, admitted he was responsible for the punishment.

"There was never any question about whether he did it," Vergason said. "He concedes he was in the wrong. He was a good teacher and a good citizen. We deplore it."

Parents of the children charged at a protest meeting that Fogal directed four school patrol members to make the children crawl on the hot asphalt as punishment for breaking out of line after eating lunch in the school lunchroom.

They said three of the children refused to crawl and were required to run around the basketball court 20 times.

Wife Of Glass Jar Heir Gets Divorce

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Glass jar manufacturing heir John A. Kerr's divorce decree gives him clear title to a portable barbecue set, a leather chair and a pressure cooker.

Mrs. Flora A. Kerr keeps the $50,000 North Hollywood home and gets $600 monthly support for herself and the two children. She told the court yesterday that she reconciled with Kerr not long after she filed for divorce in 1949, but that he didn't keep his promise to give up drinking for keeps, so she filed again.

"There was never any question about whether he did it," Vergason said. "He concedes he was in the wrong. He was a good teacher and a good citizen. We deplore it."

Parents of the children charged at a protest meeting that Fogal directed four school patrol members to make the children crawl on the hot asphalt as punishment for breaking out of line after eating lunch in the school lunchroom.

They said three of the children refused to crawl and were required to run around the basketball court 20 times.

THE FLAVORS OF THE WORLD ARE IN EACH CARTON

World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — For five memorable days in mid-March Sen. McCarthy's fight with the Army held at white heat. Then it visibly cooled while his Senate committee looked for an outside lawyer to investigate the case.

For lack of developments, the McCarthy story gradually disappeared from the front pages. The Wisconsin Republican himself began to call it "a tempest in a teapot."

Sen. Mundt (R-SD), who says he considers McCarthy one of his best friends, talked as though he sought to minimize its importance too. Mundt, acting as chairman in McCarthy's place for this investigation, led the search for the lawyer. He must be, said Mundt, a man "as fairminded as an eminent judge."

Mundt first tried the president of the American Bar Assn., who turned it down. Yesterday the committee decided it had found the man:

Samuel Powers Sears of Boston, 58-year-old Republican trial lawyer who collects gold toothpicks as a hobby and was three times president of the Massachusetts Bar Assn.

The committee talked 45 minutes with Sears and then picked him unanimously. Sears said he could act "dispassionately."

Soon it appeared that at least some of the committee members want to ask him some more questions. It wasn't long before they found they hadn't learned all that was known on where Sears stood, or had stood, on McCarthy.

When newsmen asked Sears, long an outspoken foe of communism if he had ever taken a stand on McCarthy or "McCarthyism," he said he never had, publicly or privately. Mundt and other committee members said they had asked the same question and received the same answer.

Shortly afterwards news came from Boston—by way of newspaper files and the Harvard Crimson, a university undergraduate daily—that Sears had spoken out publicly more than once in favor of McCarthy, but not later than two years ago.

He was quoted as saying McCarthy "has done a great job" and the loss of McCarthy to the Senate (in the 1952 elections) would be a "blow to the United States."

Harvard Prof. Mark Howe, who had opposed McCarthy's re-election, called Sears' appointment yesterday "incredible." He said he had debated with Sears and that the latter "was willing to excuse any McCarthy tactic."

Two members of the committee—Senators Potter (R-Mich) and Jackson (D-Wash) said they will ask Sears to look back on his past statements and say if he still feels he can do an "impartial" job.

Two other senators—Mundt and McClellan (D-Ark)—said they doubted anything said two years ago could be taken as indicating prejudice in McCarthy's present fight with Army officials.

The Democratic members—the third was Sen. Symington (D-Mo)—said they were unaware of something else about Sears: that 10 days ago he expressed—to Sen. Saltonstall (R-Mass) and Rep. Curtis (R-Mass)—an "interest" in the job.

The McCarthy-Army row revolves around G. David Schine, an unpaid worker on McCarthy's staff until he was drafted.

An Army report alleged that McCarthy and his chief counsel, Roy Cohn, tried through pressure on the Army to get special treatment for Schine.

McCarthy and Cohn disputed this, and in turn charged Army officials had tried to "blackmail" them into ceasing their investigation of its handling of subversive suspects. This charge, too, was denied.

When McCarthy's committee decided March 16 to investigate the whole dispute, tension seemed to ease, news grew scarcer and McCarthy began talking as if it was all just a dispute between two other guys. "This blowup between Cohn and Adams," he said, John Adams, Army counsel, was in the midst of the quarrel over Schine.

Mundt echoed McCarthy, he said he was at a loss to understand the "feverish interest" in the case. Although there were charges of blackmail and intimidation, nobody yielded to them, Mundt said.

"Involved here at worst," he added, "are misconduct and misrepresentation by one or more in-

Great Talent Requires Gimmick, High School Reunion Boys Say

By CARROLL ARIMOND
(For Hal Boyle)

CHICAGO (AP)—The invitation to the 25th reunion of the high school graduating class didn't get much of a welcome. It conjured visions of hours of backslapping, exchanging of baby pictures and shouts to "good ole Pinkie."

But it turned out much better. Larry, who raised his tuition money by working nights in a bakery and caught up on his sleep in the classes for which he paid the tuition, now is a professional feeder. His firm puts out the meals for scores of Milwaukee factories and institutions. Larry served the reunion dinner.

The principal remarks were by Ed, a shy, red-haired lad a quarter century ago who had become a university president. Around him were John, a medical school dean; Paul, an engineering college regent; Tom, a Navy commander who flew in from the Pacific Coast on, as one classmate put it, our defense bonds; Ralph, an active alderman, and Jack, an inactive state legislator because of a recent election.

When the reunion broke up at its original meeting place, however, it did not move on to the president's residence, to the deanery, the regency or the commandery. It shifted almost en masse to the establishment of Tony, the one member of the class who had become a saloonkeeper.

Tony's place, in a residential neighborhood, is the "Sketch Club" and once inside we all understood the name. The walls were papered with drawings in the same bold technique Tony had used in adorning the fly leaves of "Caesar's Gallic War" with caricatures of Julius himself. Tony smoothed his white apron at his waist and told his story.

"When I got out of schools," he began, "I went into commercial art. I had no real formal training at it, but you fellows remember how I always liked to draw. I studied art on the side and did what I think was some good work."

"Then in the 30s came the depression. If there was one thing people could get along without, it was commercial art. So I had to find something else to do. "I tried a lot of things without much success. Then I got the idea of running a tavern. But other tavernkeepers were starving."

3 Youths Sought In Bank Robbery

BALTIMORE (AP)—FBI and local police combed East Baltimore today on almost a door-to-door basis for any "drapes" answering the description of three youths who took $30,000 from a Provident Savings Bank branch office yesterday.

The three, wearing "draped" type haircuts, sporting waist-length jackets and dark glasses, held three bank employees and 10 customers at gunpoint while they gathered up the cash in a shopping bag.

They entered the bank during the late morning business peak, just a few minutes after a Brinks armored car had delivered $23,000 in cash to the bank.

Judge Dismisses Case Against Lad

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Kindly Juvenile Court Judge Talbot Ellis dismissed charges yesterday against Billy McGowan for freeing his doomed pet Jiggs and 20 other dogs from the city pound.

Judge Ellis said he believed the dogs were freed accidentally, as the 12-year-old boy had said when he was charged with malicious mischief.

When Jiggs was picked up as a stray after following Billy to school, the boy didn't have the $6 required for pound fees. He went to the pound for a "last visit" with Jiggs before the dog was placed in the gas chamber.

Billy testified that as he was leaving the pen his sleeve must have caught in a latch and opened the pen door. He said he was outside getting on his bicycle when Jiggs and the other dogs came running out.

Teacher Cited For Punishing 14 Students

RUSKIN, Fla. (AP)—A 27-year-old mathematics teacher was suspended yesterday pending an investigation of charges that he punished 14 grammar school students by making them crawl on hands and knees across a hot asphalt basketball court at midday.

A. L. Vergason, director of education for Hillsborough County, said Carroll E. Fogal, rather of two children, who has been teaching for three years, admitted he was responsible for the punishment.

"There was never any question about whether he did it," Vergason said. "He concedes he was in the wrong. He was a good teacher and a good citizen. We deplore it."

COMMUTING TO WORK

IT WAS NOT MANY years ago that employees lived near their job. When a job-seeker found employment 10 or 20 miles from home, he made arrangements as soon as possible to move nearer to his job. Not so today.

Many industrial and office workers today commute great distances to their daily grind, almost entirely by automobile. Parking lots adjacent to large factories are filled with thousands of automobiles owned by employees.

Traffic jams are created in large cities and in many not so large when shifts change at major industries. This is a great change from an earlier day, when many factory workers lived so near their jobs they went home to lunch.

In some instances, employees spend three or four hours a day commuting to and from work. Management has been amazed when it has conducted surveys to discover that some employees commute regularly for distances ranging up to 75 miles.

This long-range commuting is a development which has taken place largely in the last 15 years. At the beginning of World War II, when new industries were developed overnight that hired many thousands of workers, these obviously could not be obtained within a narrow radius. And usually there was not sufficient housing to make it possible for them to move to points near their new jobs. Others hesitated to make the move because they feared employment was not permanent.

But there is no doubt that long-range commuting has become a permanent fixture in the industrial scene.

TOP-HEAVY LABOR

UNIONS THAT were read out of the CIO a few years ago on grounds of Communist domination are reported to be falling apart at the seams.

Two of the biggest reported to be cracking up are United Electrical, which for a long time had the inside track at some of the nation's most sensitive electronic plants, and Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, which has had a stranglehold on the processing of strategic metals, notably copper.

That these internationals have been losing important locals to rival groups reflects the loyalty and good judgment of labor's rank and file and their immediate leaders.

Irrespective of the Communist issue, the labor movement is currently in the throes of considerable internal unrest. In the AFL, Dave Beck of the Teamsters is causing uneasiness and dissension, but the schism within the CIO is deeper.

In the CIO the Steelworkers' McDonald and President Reuther, who also heads the

These Days

Just as the war in Korea became a conflict with Red China, so the Indochina War is a conflict with Red China. Therefore, at the Geneva Conference, Red China will speak for these countries; the Peking Radio already claims that Red China will speak for the whole of Asia. This, of course, is a geographical exaggeration. Nevertheless, the United States will at Geneva face a formidable antagonist who will demand full recognition as a member of the United Nations as a minimum basis for future discussions.

There will be no other issue at Geneva until the question of recognition is settled, and in this the United States stands utterly alone. To Great Britain, recognition offers hope for the vast China trade, which could mean a restoration of an Asiatic economic empire. Also the Brits are anxious not to force upon India an irrevocable East or West decision. To France, such a recognition could mean that the Indochina War would be settled by a truce of a peace. To Soviet Russia, it would mean the fulfillment of the conquest of China and the satisfaction of the wishes of the second most important member of the Soviet Universal State. To the United States, it can only mean the end of an adventure in international leadership that failed.

As the situation has developed, Formosa is not at this moment the issue. The leading powers are not considering Formosa's sensibilities or Chiang Kai-shek's future. The issue at Geneva will be how far the United States will go to resist recognition of Red China by the United Nations with a seat on the Security Council.

If the United States is adamant, threatening to use the veto or even to withdraw from the United Nations on the ground that no nation can fight its way into it, the Conference will break up. If the United States adopts the view that it cannot resist its friends or a majority of the principal powers, the Conference will be reduced to cutting the United States down to size in international affairs. Great Britain will then emerge as the leader of the Western European nations and the United States will be isolated.

The pattern is clear, but how to salvage anything is not so clear. Too many errors of judgment led up to this climactic Conference, and those errors cannot be erased. They started at the Teheran Conference in 1943, which diverted the United States from an idealistic position based on justice and the rights of man to practical politics, which amounted to giving to Stalin what was withheld from Hitler. Practicality in time of war developed into almost abject compromise and appeasement. At Geneva, the last step may be taken—the recognition of Red China as the successor state to Nationalist China, our ally in World War II.

Auto Workers, are engaged in a battle of the giants which could blow the organization out of the water.

The basic fact is that American unionism has become top-heavy with authority. Labor leaders rule the roost and annihilate anyone who dares to raise a voice against them within the organization. It's conceivable that the average worker who is now in the process of repudiating the Communists may also some day rise up to smite the power boys.

Regardless of what the future may bring, there is no reason for anyone to fear he will have nothing to worry about.

The Doctor Disagrees

By Elizabeth Seifert

CHAPTER FORTY TWO

THE magazine was passed from hand to hand; the doctors seemed inclined to pause and read the whole of it. The women snatched it away from them, their chief interest being in the fact that the author actually sat among them. Each glanced up from the shining page, across Craig and back again, their brows puzzled.

When he got this treatment for the third time, Craig laughed. "Why didn't you tell us?" asked Eleanor, her tone sharp. "I didn't know you'd be interested."

"But—Why, you're the first live author I've ever known!" Craig chuckled. "Big list of dead ones?" he drawled.

Her face stiffened. "You must have told Shelly!" "Didn't. She found it out."

"I've always known that Craig was a writer," said Shelly softly. "Stephen told me."

"What's it about?" asked Bowser. "The title—ARE YOU SAFE IN A HOSPITAL?"

"Yes, I saw that! What conclusion does Talbot..." "I don't believe he reaches a conclusion. Unless it is that A.M.A. approval does not guarantee safety."

"Where?" said Bowser. "Let me have that! Did you stick your neck out to that extent, Doctor?"

"I have a long and calloused neck." "And you don't give a hoot for doctor-patient relationship?"

Stephen and Shelly watched Craig alight. "I give a whole lot," he said quietly. "For the relationship there should be between doctor and patient. One of mutual respect and trust."

"You happen to be one of those doctors yourself?" snapped Ward. "I do. There are a few other doctors who are not happy with the setup as it exists today. As for the patients—my intention was not to make anyone happy, Ward. In that article I stated a few facts in the hope that I might awaken some patients enough to demand what is theirs by right—and I hope, too, that a few doctors may read it and get to thinking about the situation for their own sakes."

"This article seems to be," said Bowser, "an argument for the better licensing and grading of hospitals, but how?"

Craig nodded. "Take it away from the A.M.A. monopoly it now is, away from A.C.S. control—" "But should it be done? I mean, you'd get back the old, dirty hospitals, the baby mills—your death rate would go up—"

"That's not necessary," said Stephen. "No, because I had no thought of hospitals going unlicensed. My term was better licensing." Craig declared. "The final licensing of each hospital should lie with a local board, and that board should be made up simply of a few people with plain common sense, and good eyesight. That's all it would take."

"You're such a fine surgeon," said Ward. "I don't see why you don't content yourself with that, instead of cutting your throat this way. You obey the spirit, as well as the letter—"

"That isn't enough for Craig," said Shelly. "He's out to save the world."

Stephen had asked Dr. Talbot to remain in Norfolk, to share the medical practice with him. So the next morning he and Shelly went to the office, hopeful of Craig's favorable decision. Talbot awaited them there and as they entered he called to Miss Browne, instructing her to take any telephone calls which might come in.

"You're out of a job, Mrs. Carr," Stephen said to her smiling. "I expect to be, but I think Craig wants to say something, Stephen."

"Yes, I do," Craig admitted crisply. "First, thanks for wanting me to remain here and share your practice. But—I believe I have a better offer."

He got up, went to his suit coat hanging behind the door, took out his wallet, and from it extracted an envelope. He spread the letter out before Stephen. It offered Dr. Talbot a position in the main offices of the American Medical Association! Mention was made of the magazine article which the party guests had discussed the night before.

"Well!" said Stephen, leaning back and squinting his eyes at his friend. "Looks like they'd rather have you with 'em than against 'em."

"Yeah," said Craig. "That was my first thought, too. But I talked to this chap—" He pointed his blunt, brown finger to the signature on the letter. "I went up to Chicago the first of last week..."

"Oh, is that why you went?" asked Stephen, with such obvious relief that Shelly knew someone had gossiped to him. "I mean, he explained, 'Father was a little hot that you should just disappear when he thought you were needed to attend a man injured at the plant. What did the man say they wanted of you?'"

"Well, their idea seemed to be to employ me as something of a trouble-shooter."

"As how?" "It seemed a decision has been reached to establish their own police force within the organization. 'Police' in the strictly military sense of cleaning up trouble spots, dirty places—They seem to think I was pretty good at finding weak spots in the setup..."

Stephen laughed. "They've got bruises to prove that!" Craig nodded. "My job," he said, "if I take it, would be to go on spotting those thin places—the notable difference that I would point them out first to the organization itself."

"Did you accept their offer?" Shelly asked. "Not definitely. I had to come back here before anything was settled."

"Oh, yes, I remember. The plant called you back over the Evans thing." She glanced at Stephen. "He'll explain that to you, darling, better than I could, possibly. But I do want to ask now, Craig—if you take this job, would it mean that you'd not doctor?"

"She means practice, I think," said Stephen indulgently. "Of course she means that!" said Craig sharply, then coughed again in apology. "I think, Shelly, the chances are good that I would 'doctor.' There's a lot of it to be done in Chicago. Surely some hospital there would take me on its staff. If only—" he flashed one of his rare smiles at her, "on night emergency duty."

She made little gestures of decision and satisfaction; she nodded her head, clasped her hands and smiled. "Then," she said firmly, "I think the offer is wonderful, and that you should accept it."

Stephen stood up, his handsome face sober. "I too will say that you should take the job, whatever motive there might be within their offer. I'll guarantee you'd be busy! You're what our Myra calls a pure wonder, and I'll count on you to slicker out of any attempt to gag you. Though I will point out, Talbot, that it won't be enough to criticize the A.M.A., what it is doing. People who claim your articles serve to destroy the public's faith in doctors have a good talking point. You're going to have to get yourself some constructive plans, now."

"Oh, but, Stephen, I'm sure Craig already has such plans!" Stephen smiled at her indulgently, and held out his hand. "I'm going to drop you at home when I go out to see Cobb," he said parenthetically.

Craig rose as Shelly did. "I do have some plans that I consider constructive, Carr," he said. "I'm sure that medicine must be organized—and the present setup will suffice. But I also maintain that medicine as such should be free."

"You mean without government interference..." "Yes, and without the need to cater too much to public opinion which is apt to be emotional and sentimental, rather than reasonable." He went on to explain at some length his plan for improving the standards of medical schools, for better licensing practices.

Finally, Stephen clasped his hand on Craig's shoulder. "Myra's right!" he said warmly. "You're a wonder! I'm all for you. When do you leave?"

"Right away. Tomorrow, if possible."

Stephen swung about. "Oh, but—" "Why not?" asked Dr. Talbot. "I can go over case records with you in a four-hour session."

"Yes, but—well, I had hoped you'd stay on here long enough for me to take a little trip with Shelly. A second honeymoon, as it were."

The color drained from Craig's face, leaving it almost gray. Then red flamed hotly into his cheeks, and light sparkled from his black eyes. "Have your honeymoon in your own house, Stephen Carr!" he cried roughly. "That would be change enough—for both of you. Good-by now and god bless you," he added as he extended his hands to them.

How to Help the Bedwetter

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

CAUSES ranging from laziness to emotional disturbances make bedwetting a major problem. It has been estimated that it involves about sixteen per cent of the children between the ages of three and fifteen years. A solution to bedwetting is necessary for the social adjustment of most children.

If bedwetting is allowed to progress into adulthood, it can become an extreme handicap. An actual disease is responsible in only about three per cent of those affected. It has been found that training may be quite difficult in any child whose bladder control has not been accomplished by the age of three years.

Reasons Are Numerous

There are many reasons for bedwetting. These may range from the above mentioned laziness to mental upsets. Many children use bedwetting as a weapon against an insecure, anxious mother. Many a mother invites the problem by worrying about it too soon. It may also serve the child as a means of attracting the attention of parents who do not show enough care or affection.

Recently, a drug known as methanethine was used to slow up bladder action. It allows the bladder to fill fuller in order to give a greater waking sensation to the bedwetter. It has helped many cases.

New Device

A new apparatus was recently used in an attempt to help the bedwetter. The method is cumbersome and requires special equipment. The person being broken of the bedwetting habit sleeps on a moisture-sensitive bed pad that is connected to an electric alarm. Any moisture will set off the alarm. When the alarm goes off, the person will awaken and can then empty his bladder. Then the pad is replaced with a dry one and the alarm re-set.

Some persistent bedwetters may respond to this treatment. However, in most instances, the habit will clear up by the time the person is fifteen years old. There are only a very few cases that continue after this age.

news behind the news

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower recently amazed a small group of White House dinner guests by telling them that he had devoted more time and thought to the farm problem, including a fair return to the producers and reasonable (lower) prices to consumers, than to any other question except the cold war, with its diplomatic and military aspects.

Only two Cabinet members, secretaries John Foster Dulles and Charles E. Wilson, see Ike and take up more of his official and evening hours than Ezra Taft Benson, the mild and abstemious Mormon who presides over Agriculture. The President has an unusually high regard for Secretary Benson because of the courage and common sense he has displayed in fighting for more flexible and lower price supports on farm products.

They regard an across-the-board reduction in federal payments to the farmers and in retail prices of food as essential, even though it means that Eisenhower will be only a one-term President and Benson only a four-year sacrifice on the altar of a sound and sensible agricultural economy.

TRANSACTION — Benson's reduction of the government's purchase price on butter from 90 to 75 per cent, which went into effect yesterday, has Ike's full approval, even though it may have adverse political effects in the dairy states, including Sen. Joe McCarthy's Wisconsin.

Eisenhower and Benson believe that lowering of the price support on butter and other farm products will eventually benefit both the farmer and consumer. Their proposed liquidation of huge surpluses and high food prices is a key move in the general attempt to return to a system of private initiative and enterprise.

It is not generally realized, but Uncle Sam has become the exclusive purchaser of major farm crops, which he now buys at an artificial and politically fixed price. So long as he will pay a guaranteed price (90 per cent of parity), the farmer will continue to overproduce. He has a political price and market. The taxpayers finance this form of state socialism twice—in taxes and in high prices at the grocery stores.

VAST HOARD — Eisenhower has been shocked by Benson's report that at the end of 1953 Uncle Sam will own more than $8 billion worth of groceries and allied products. He will have on his hands a year's supply of wheat and cotton, as measured against normal domestic consumption, a four months' stock of butter and corn. If 1954 growing weather is friendly, those surpluses will increase.

Storage facilities for this food hangover approach the exhaustion stage, for a farmer cannot obtain a government loan or purchase unless his surplus is stored in accord with Commodity Credit Corp. requirements. The annual warehouse bill for farm surpluses is about $170 million or approximately $500,000 a day. We pay that much to hoard the stuff we cannot eat or sell abroad.

SOLUTION — All these considerations, together with the refusal of a politically minded Congress to cut acreage for major

Try, Stop Me

"A small town," opines A. W. Perrine, "is a place where a fellow has to walk around a dog enjoying a nap on the sidewalk." And speaking of dogs, H. Scherman points out that nothing can show more clearly how happy your pup is to see you than that light colored suit you just had dry cleaned the day before!

"What is the thing I'm most anxious to get out of my new car?" grinned a business man in answer to an advertising expert's question. "That's easy! My 17-year-old son!"

Arthur Godfrey described a girl he had auditioned for his show as "the kind you take home to meet your mother—after you've locked father in the garage." "Just by looking at her," he added, "I knew immediately what kind of a past she's going to have."

REDUCTION — To force a reduction in butter prices, which suggests similar treatment of other subsidized crops, was a most difficult decision, economically and politically, for Ike and Ezra. But they regard it as a sound and practical solution in their general attempt to reorganize the nation's economic system on a more solid basis.

They will go through with this liquidation process, even if it means that Farmers Eisenhower and Benson return to the nonpolitical plough after the next presidential election.

Good System Contributes To Beauty

By HELEN FOLLETT

Two elements contribute to a woman's smart appearance — good taste in the choice of clothes and accessories, plus a highly developed sense of order.

These qualities are time and money-savers. The woman who has good taste never makes mistakes when selecting her wardrobe. She knows what she wants and she keeps going through the shops until she gets it. Her sense of what's right makes her fastidious about every little detail.

She can brush her teeth, take her bath, care for her complexion, arrange her hair and tend to finger-nails in less time than it takes the casual, untidy woman to get herself out of a bathrobe and decide what she is going to wear. Efficiency and system are the answer.

To look well is to have confidence and self-respect. The neat woman never uses soiled powder pads. She keeps many fresh ones on hand. You will never catch her wearing soiled gloves. She doesn't depend upon nail polish to cover up the fact that she doesn't care for her nails.

She has a regular standing appointment for shampoo and wave set. If by chance there is a straggling lock in her hairdo she moistens it with eau de cologne, forms a circle and fastens it with a bobby pin.

It doesn't matter whether a woman is an executive or a waitress, she must be in topnotch grooming form — scrupulously neat, hair shining and perfectly arranged, nails

Two elements contribute to a woman's smart appearance — good taste in the choice of clothes and accessories, plus a highly developed sense of order.

These qualities are time and money-savers. The woman who has good taste never makes mistakes when selecting her wardrobe. She knows what she wants and she keeps going through the shops until she gets it. Her sense of what's right makes her fastidious about every little detail.

She can brush her teeth, take her bath, care for her complexion, arrange her hair and tend to finger-nails in less time than it takes the casual, untidy woman to get herself out of a bathrobe and decide what she is going to wear. Efficiency and system are the answer.

To look well is to have confidence and self-respect. The neat woman never uses soiled powder pads. She keeps many fresh ones on hand. You will never catch her wearing soiled gloves. She doesn't depend upon nail polish to cover up the fact that she doesn't care for her nails.

She has a regular standing appointment for shampoo and wave set. If by chance there is a straggling lock in her hairdo she moistens it with eau de cologne, forms a circle and fastens it with a bobby pin.

It doesn't matter whether a woman is an executive or a waitress, she must be in topnotch grooming form—scrupulously neat, hair shining and perfectly arranged, nails

Jesus' Intercessory Prayer

HIS MISSION ACCOMPLISHED, JESUS PRAYS THAT HIS DISCIPLES BE WITH HIM IN HEAVEN.

Scripture—John 17.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

AT FIRST READING this lesson may seem a difficult one for the younger children. It can be made interesting and helpful if the children are asked if they have been taught to say prayers at bedtime, and what the subjects of these prayers are.

Do they pray for material things for themselves—a bicycle, doll carriage, other such items? Or do they ask their heavenly Father to make them more loving to those around them; that they may control their tempers, cease envying those who have more than they; be more helpful to parents, teachers and playmates?

Jesus prayed first for Himself, that He had finished His work for which God had sent Him into the world, and asking His Father to glorify Him, not for Himself, but that "Thy Son may glorify Thee."

Then He asked that God would care for those whom Jesus loved upon earth, "the men which Thou gavest Me out of the world;" then for all who should believe in Him—the whole Christian world; and finally that these faithful disciples who would carry on His work when He had left

"I pray for them; I pray not for the world, but for them which Thou hast given Me; for they are Thine. And all Mine are Thine, and Thine are Mine; and I am glorified in them."

Soon the Saviour would no longer be with His disciples. "While I was with them in the world, I kept them in Thy name, . . . none of them is lost, but the son of perdition, that the Scripture might be fulfilled."

To many this chapter of St. John is a sad one. Reading it we shrink for what is coming—for Christ's suffering—but He speaks of joy, praying that these disciples "might have My joy fulfilled in themselves," and that the Father should "keep them from evil."

"Sanctify them through Thy truth; Thy word is truth."

Neither pray I for these alone, but for them also which shall believe on Me through their word; that they all may be one; as Thou, Father, art in Me, and I in Thee, that they also may be one in Us; that the world may believe that Thou hast sent Me."

This is the Lord's prayer for all of us, the millions now on earth that believe in Him, as well as for the world of His time.

Have you noticed how many times in these, Jesus' last days on earth, He speaks of love? His disciples should love one another as He has loved them; in verse 23 of our lesson Jesus prays:

"I in them (the disciples) and Thou in Me, that they may be made perfect in one; and that the world may know that Thou hast sent Me, and hast loved them, as Thou hast loved Me."

His last prayer was that His disciples might go where He had gone when their time was come. "Father, I will that they also whom Thou hast given Me, be with Me where I am; that they may behold My glory, which Thou hast given Me; for Thou lovest Me before the foundation of the world."

"O righteous Father, the world hath not known Thee, but I have known Thee, and these have known that Thou hast sent Me. And I have declared unto them Thy name, and will declare it; that the love wherewith Thou hast loved Me may be in them, and I in them."

The love of God and Christ for each other and the world and the love we may bear one another as we go through life would be another salient point to emphasize in this lesson to the very young as well as to older pupils.

Dash Of Salt Being Put Out By Candidate

It's To Be Taken, He Says, With Opponent's Campaign Propaganda

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A lieutenant governor candidate is mailing salt for voters to take with what he calls the propaganda of an opponent.

John Taylor, Salem printer in a three-way race for the Democratic nomination, is sending out letters. Taped to each is a cellophane bag containing a pinch of salt. The letters read:

"Here's a little salt . . . which you might like to use on the propaganda being put out by one of my opponents that 'a vote for him is a vote for the governor.' Possibly he thinks he is going to pull in the governor on his coat tail, this time."

Without mentioning names, Taylor obviously referred to former Lt. Gov. George D. Nye of Waverly and Gov. Frank J. Lausche. Nye is a candidate again this year and Lausche is seeking his fifth term as governor.

Nye has released copies of a letter to county Democratic chairman. It read:

"As you know I have been the running mate of Governor Lausche each time he has been the nominee for governor. We were elected three times together. The last time he was the only Democrat elected, while I was defeated. . . . I am here and now asking your support for the endorsement of your committee . . . because my nomination will be a symbol of the faith and confidence which you and the democracy of Ohio will bestow upon Gov. Lausche. Any other result would amount to a lack of confidence."

Taylor, a former state senator, recalled that Lausche won election by a 300,000-vote margin two years ago. Under the old party column vote ballot, he said, that "big vote for the head of the ticket would have pulled the lieutenant governor in with the governor."

But the office type ballot, preventing straight ticket voting with a single X mark, was used in the 1952 election. And Taylor observed that "O. R. friend, who now says that a vote for him is a vote for the governor, lost to an unknown Republican with a good office type ballot name."

"Democrats everywhere have already made up their minds that they want a new name with new ideas for lieutenant governor this time . . . a 'name' which will stack up with John Brown, the Republican candidate."

Brown, former Medina mayor, is unopposed for the GOP nomination for a second term. He will face the Democratic nominee in the Nov. 2 general election.

The third candidate for the Democratic nomination is Herbert S. Duffy of Columbus, former Ohio attorney general. He was chairman of Ohio's evenly-divided delegation to the Democratic National Convention two years ago.

As a supporter of Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee for president at the convention, Duffy was in the opposite faction from Nye who backed Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois, the unsuccessful nominee. Rep. Robert W. Reider (D-Ohio) wants Ohio's 23-member congressional delegation to support the Senate-approved St. Lawrence Seaway proposal in the House.

He wrote to the 16 Republicans, 6 Democrats and 1 independent from Ohio urging their "active and favorable" support for a seaway to open the Great Lakes to large ocean-going ships.

"Obviously," Reider wrote, "the seaway and our turnpikes when completed will combine to permit Ohio products to compete on world markets. The two projects, when linked, will constitute the key to a progressive, prosperous future for eight million Ohioans."

Reider, a newspaper publisher as well as a state legislator, is unopposed for the Democratic nomination for secretary of state.

So-Called 'Joke' Worth $5 To Lad

NEWTON, Mass. (AP)—Scores of persons passed the frayed brown wallet that lay on the sidewalk yesterday.

They weren't going to fall for that old April Fool's gag.

But along came Donald Burke, 15, who wasn't fazed by the smile of onlookers.

The wallet contained $78.

Donald, an orphan and one of eight children, traced the wallet to a Needham resident, who rewarded him with a $5 bill.

Ex-Pastor Dies

YOUNGSTOWN (AP)—Funeral services will be held Sunday for the Rev. John C. Schaaf, 96, former pastor of the Zion Reformed Church in suburban Canfield.

100 Home Offers Given Youth, 17

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—A teenager, who advertised for a home ("with someone who will like a boy") so he could finish high school, has chosen one from more than 100 offers.

Gene Ring, 17, of Newbern, Tenn., moves in with Mr. and Mrs. Morey Evans at suburban Spring Lake today.

Gene described himself as "healthy and ambitious" and willing to work hard around the house. But Mrs. Evans said that's out for now—he's got too much "catching up" to do in school.

He quit school last December in the 10th grade. His parents were divorced; no one in his family was in a position to take care of him.

He and his aunt, Mrs. W. W. Hendrix of Memphis, placed the ad in the classified section of the Memphis Commercial Appeal.

Grocer To Keep Word In 'Joke'

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Mayor Sherman Johnson of Zanesville, a grocer was convinced it was an April Fool's Day joke when the telephone rang yesterday.

A voice on the other end said: "This is radio station WHIZ. How would you like to get your name on a nationwide radio broadcast by helping stimulate the sale of butter now that support levels are changed? All you have to do is sell butter at half price tomorrow."

Deciding to play along with a gag, Johnson said he would do better than that: he would give away a pound with every $5 purchase.

Last night he heard his "promise" aired over the facilities of the National Broadcasting Co.

"Well," he sighed, "I'll keep my word."

Rape-Kidnaper Faces Sentence

CINCINNATI (AP)—Judge John W. Peck will sentence Joseph Caproni, 31, Tuesday for rape and kidnaping. A jury of eight women and four men convicted him last night of forcing a 33-year-old physical therapist to accompany him in his car and then attacking her.

Caproni, the grandson of the founder of a well-known Cincinnati restaurant, was paroled in 1952 from Ohio Penitentiary. He spent 15 years there of a life term for the murder of Beatrice Roth, 20, of Cincinnati.

Tarheel Dems Await Talk By Adlai

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP)—The nation's top Democrat visits Charlotte today to bolster a Democratic drive aimed at unseating North Carolina's only Republican congressman.

The Tar Heel Democratic high command summoned Adlai Stevenson to deliver a major political address at a statewide party rally.

Party leaders hoped that Stevenson's appearance would rally supporters for a Democratic nominee against U.S. Rep. Charles Raper Jonas, who was elected in 1952 from the state's 10th Congressional District.

Renominated, Jonas will face the winner of a Democratic primary contest between Charlotte City Judge J. C. Sedberry and Marvin L. Ritch, a Charlotte lawyer.

In his address tonight, Stevenson is expected to discuss the hydrogen bomb and the Eisenhower administration's tax and economic program. The speech will be televised and broadcast locally.

The address will be Stevenson's first since his March 6 speech in Miami, where he charged that the Republican party was split by a controversy over Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.). Party sources indicated that the speech will avoid reference to the controversy.

4 Cincy Meat Firms Arrested

CINCINNATI (AP)—Four Cincinnati firms were charged yesterday with selling adulterated meats.

Warrants filed in municipal court alleged Armour & Co., Schulz Brothers Corp. and the H. F. Busch Co., used an unlawful percentage of milk powder in some products. The fourth firm, R. E. Froelicher of Dick's Meat Mart, was charged with treating ground beef with a chemical.

Bender Fears End Of Labor Act

MANSFIELD (AP)—Democrats will scuttle the Taft-Hartley Act if they gain control of Congress in the November elections, says Rep. George H. Bender (R-Ohio).

Bender, who is battling William Saxbe of near Urbana for the Republican nomination for senator, addressed a Richland County Republican meeting last night. He called the Taft-Hartley act "our strongest bulwark against economic chaos." The Democrats are counting heavily on labor in the elections and labor's price is repeal of the Taft-Hartley act, Bender said.

He Didn't Feel Faint, Just Humble

FREMONT, Neb. (AP)—Nurses offered John Davis, Council Bluffs, Iowa, fruit juice and a sandwich after he gave a blood donation at Midland College.

Davis sat and bowed his head. Quickly the nurses lifted him to a cot. But he was not in a faint.

A pretheological student, he had bowed his head for momentary prayer before eating.

The new isolationism is not so repugnant to a people who are weary of constant diplomatic defeats at great cost. Never since the days of the "America First" movement have Americans generally been so apathetic about foreign affairs or so antagonistic to foreign countries. No European or Asiatic nation today popular among the American people, unless it be Turkey. The pendulum is swinging away from nearly 20 years of excessive emphasis on foreign affairs.

The danger, of course, is war, but this our people do not recognize. The Hellbombs go off and they are only curiosities such as fireworks displays were at the beginning of the Twentieth Century. The failure of "Civil Defense" to arouse our people to the dangers of a war of extermination is only another evidence of their apathy on the entire subject of a prospective war. Nobody is building private Hell-bomb cellars against the devastations of the future.

All this, Geneva will in some manner influence. The gathering of states could have been held at the United Nations in New York, but the decision has been to hold this Conference, as so many others, outside the United Nations. It is essentially a European Conference, although Asiatics will be present, in which the American delegation will have to stand alone, if there is courage left to fight it out. There may not be such courage left, particularly on the principle that a nation must not shoot its way into the United Nations.

Burgin Seeking Saddler Match

CINCINNATI (AP)—Eddie Burgin, Cincinnati featherweight would like to fight in June with titleholder Sandy Saddler.

The Becker Boxing Club said Saddler had agreed to such a match if Burgin could defeat ninth-ranked Bill Bossio last night. Burgin did just that, using an effective left hook and stunning right cross to pound out the decision.

The judges' vote was close, although all three agreed it was Burgin's fight.

Doby Trying Hard To Relax Some

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Cleveland's Larry Doby, whose batting average has been skidding, said today he was going to stop "taking the game home with me."

Doby, who ended last season with a .263 after hitting .326 in 1950, de-

Newt Oliver Fails To Appear At Another Sports Gathering

Again failing to show up for a district sports banquet, Newt Oliver, coach at Rio Grande College, made it two in a row for Pickaway County. Thursday night's affair at Salt Creek High School saw Harold Shingler, athletic director of Martinsville High School in Clinton County, as guest speaker.

"Mr. Oliver's indefinite reply to our request forced us to make a definite agreement with another speaker," stated School Superintendent "All these years I've been elated, drinking and sleeping baseball. I think this has been my trouble. It's made me too intense about the game."

He added that this year he and his wife are going out more and promised that after each game he is going to forget baseball "until the next day."

intendent R. A. Strous. "We even offered him more money than he ever had offered to anyone else. But when I tried to reach him less than a week ago, he was not in and could not be located."

Although Satcreek ended up last in the county standings, there was a good turnout for the affair. The school's Boosters Club was also in attendance.

Coach Warren Hobbles Jr., first-year coach at the school, made the following awards:

Gold Medal representing a third varsity letter: Dean Hedges and Gerald Ralston;

Silver Medal representing a second varsity letter: Richard Peters, Ray Maxson and Sam Fox. In addition, Ralston and Fox received another medal donated by the Boosters Club for being co-captains of the 1953-54 team;

FIRST YEAR VARSITY letters: Marvin Reichelderfer, Dale Drake and Charles Hanes; Reserve letters: Larry Beougher and Virgil Chaney; Freshmen Certificates: Donald Minor, Charles Polling, Jimmie Hardman, Mike Yantes and Eddie Van Fossen;

Student manager letters: Ned Strous and Willard Peters;

Cheerleader letters: Janet Maxson, Elaine Maxson and Violet Johnson. Sue Moss received a silver medal.

Coach Hobbles remarked that he looks forward to a much better showing next season. He explained that he has a number of experienced boys returning for next season.

"Even our reserve strength is much better," he added. "But our main worry is a place to practice. You know we have no gym of our own."

He continued by saying that when the weather was good the boys practiced on an outdoor court. Otherwise the team had to find an indoor court in a nearby town.

Chisox Confident Of Cincy Hurler

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Manager Paul Richards of the Chicago White Sox tabs lefty Tom Flanagan, 19-year-old Cincinnati youngster with only two seasons of pro ball behind him, as the "outstanding development of the spring for our team."

In his last start, Flanagan was belted for three runs in the first inning by the St. Louis Cardinals, then lifted in the fifth.

"I thought the kid looked better out there than he has been all spring," Richards said after this showing. "Jim Rivera should have caught a fly ball and there were some freak hits. If Flanagan can come up with a change of pace or a slider, he'll be a big help to our club this year."

Wapakoneta Votes 'No'

WAPAKONETA (AP)—Wapakoneta school district voters yesterday rejected a $1,140,000 bond issue for construction of a new high school building. The vote was 1,787 no to 1,155 yes.

THAT four-minute mile still is a dream. Wes Santee, the Kansas university star who rates as America's premier miler, made an assault on the four-minute affair in the Bankers' mile at the Chicago Relays and failed to come close. Santee won the race (above), but his time was 4:11.5. Santee blamed a slow second quarter for his failure.

Harness Race On April 25 At Fair Grounds

Jaycee Event Proceeds To Buy New Grandstand

A trophy donated by Hilliards Raceway will be the grand prize for the best time of the day at the forthcoming Circleville Junior Chamber of Commerce Harness Race matinee. The affair, which is being held at the Pickaway County Fair Grounds on Sunday, April 25, is solely for the purpose of raising money to erect a new grandstand.

Blankets, halters and lead straps, donated by local business men and enthusiasts, will be the top awards in each of the three races. And to make the meet more interesting, Bob Steele, general chairman of the program for the Jaycees, announced that a professional mobile starting gate will be used.

"Briggs Mercer of Plain City, who is widely known for his work in this field, will operate the gate," Steele said. "He is a real professional."

Bob Steele, no relation, of Hilliards near Columbus, will be judge, and Charles Hill, announcer for the Little Brown Jug Race, will handle those same chores at the matinee.

Dick Butler, publicity chairman of the Jaycee program, reminds that tickets can be purchased from any Jaycee member. Tickets will also be placed with various local merchants, he added.

Rough Initiation

WARREN (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Walter Spala took over the ownership yesterday of a shopping center poultry market. Four hours later a gunman held up the store and took $94.

Dan Topping Lashes Out At Yankees

MIAMI (AP)—Co-owner Dan Topping let loose an angry blast yesterday at the New York Yankees, who won only eight victories in 24 games during spring training.

As the team prepared to head north from Florida, Topping charged his veteran players with over-confidence. He said:

"They think nobody can beat them. The five straight pennants have got them to thinking that way. Well, they'll have to get that idea out of their heads."

The Yanks should arrive home with a better record than 8-16 because starting tomorrow in Jacksonville, they meet only minor league competition until April 9. Then they open a three-game series at Ebbets Field against their World Series cousins, the Brooklyn Dodgers.

But regardless of their performances on the homeward trek, they can't escape the fact they have been a bitter disappointment. Some of the experts say they need a take-charge guy like Joe DiMaggio. Mickey Mantle figured to be the man but so far he hasn't been able to play regularly enough.

And the showing of Whitey Ford, who won 18 games last season and figured to be the ace of the mound staff this season, has been another big disappointment. He has shown little to indicate that he'll be able to take up part of the slack caused by the sale of Vic Raschi to the St. Louis Cardinals.

Tibet, nearly twice the size of Texas, has no roads, railways or wheeled vehicles. The average altitude is more than 15,000 feet, making it the highest country in the world.

Caution Blinker Planned At Leistville

State Readies Changes For Bad Crossing

Improved Visibility, Overhaul Of Signs Also Suggested

Plans were in motion Friday to bring about major changes in the dangerous highway intersection at Leistville, the notorious "Dead Man's Crossing" formed by State Routes 56 and 159.

Announcement of the latest steps lined up to reduce the crossing's death toll came from Prosecutor William Ammer, leading figure in efforts to launch a new highway safety program in Pickaway County. The program in this area will be geared to a nationwide campaign requested some time ago by President Eisenhower.

Major changes contemplated for the crossing southeast of Circleville include more right-of-way to improve visibility, an overhaul of signs already at the location, and the installation of a flashing caution light.

Ammer released a report in which State Highways Director S. O. Linnell told of 11 recommendations made following a new survey. The latest checkup on the intersection, Linnell pointed out, was made at the request of Judge William D. Radcliff and the January term of the Pickaway County grand jury.

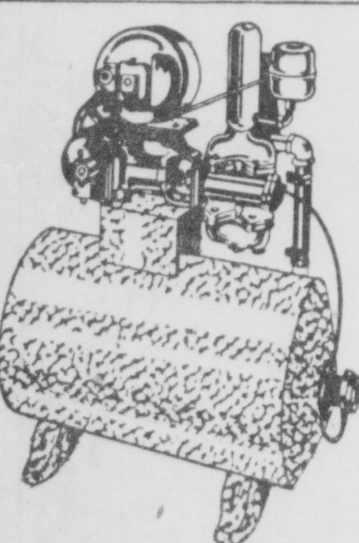

A SIMILAR study was made last year at the request of Ed Wallace, Pickaway County state representative. However, the report given Wallace at that time said it appeared little could be done to reduce the crossing's death toll "unless motorists read the signs" sprinkled all over the vicinity. Pickaway County Engineer Henry McCrady has since estimated that 40-some signs are placed around the crossing, a large percentage of them urging caution and reduced speed. Wallace and several other district officials called attention to the dangerous conditions at Leistville prior to the latest survey. Ammer indicated the Leistville problem may be one of the first matters officially brought to the attention of the newly formed highway safety group here.

The committee may also be asked to study the possibility of barring trucks carrying explosives from using Court Street and other streets in the heart of Circleville.

In his report to Ammer, outlining the new steps in mind for the 56-and-159 intersection, Linnell wrote in part: "We have made a thorough check of the reported accident experience (at the Leistville crossing) and also we have studied the traffic pattern and the physical facts at this location. An analysis has been completed of the findings, with the result that some 11 recommendations have been made.

"While it is not necessary to bother you with all the details, I am certain that you will be interested to learn that among the several points recommended are:

"1. INSTALLATION of a special

Sale Of Town To Be Tried Again

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government has decided to reject all offers to buy a little town in Ohio it is trying to sell for $1,200,000, and start over with new bids.

Public Housing Administration had received "about a dozen" bids on Maple Grove Park in Windham, a war housing community of 1,000 rental units, gas station and stores some 4,000 people live there.

The agency announced there had been "so much confusion" over proper bidding form that all bids had been thrown out.

Tierney-Aly Khan Visit Interrupted

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Gene Tierney today interrupts her rendezvous with Aly Khan at Rosarito Beach, Mexico, her studio says, to resume work at Mojave, Calif., on a movie.

Twentieth Century-Fox said yesterday it was sending a private plane to bring the actress to the film location.

Attendants at the Rosarito Beach Hotel, 17 miles south of the California border, said the prince might remain there three weeks. Miss Tierney told newsmen Tuesday they will wed within six six months, probably in France.

Ohio Men Given Life Sentences

MIDDLETOWN (AP)—Harold L. Burkhardt, 38, of Camden, and Richard E. Nolan, 22, of Middletown, pleaded guilty yesterday to second degree murder in the death of Herschel L. Sorrell, 31, of West Middletown.

They were sentenced to life imprisonment. Sorrell was robbed last November, stripped of his clothing, beaten and abandoned on a highway. He died later in a hospital.

flashing signal. 2. Acquisition of additional right-of-way to open up visibility. 3. Complete overhauling of signs and pavement markings.

"I have good reason to believe that upon the final accomplishment of the various improvements proposed, all of us will feel that steps have been taken to overcome the known hazards and that greater safety will be the result."

Linnell thanked all those responsible for the interest shown in traffic safety for the district.

Doctor Says Many Ohioans Drink 'Second-Hand' Water

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Most Ohioans are drinking second-hand water. And the cool drink may be loaded with mysterious chemical wastes that could endanger your health. That's what the doctor said.

In this case the doctor is John D. Porterfield, director of the state department of health and chairman of the Ohio Water Pollution Control Board.

Most people in Ohio drink surface waters. And these waters before gushing from the kitchen tap often have been used as disposal units for industry.

Dr. Porterfield's statements followed the recent release of the pollution board's annual report for 1953.

The pollution problem, as Dr. Porterfield sees it, boils down to one tough question. In cases of chemical pollution where there is "no practical solution" for waste treatment, who has the prior right to the stream—industry or the public?

Research, he said, has not yet fully disclosed to what extent some chemical refuse disturbs the safety-purity of water.

This situation, according to the doctor, could open up a whole new field of waterborne diseases and intestinal infections.

The U. S. Public Health Service sets bacteria standards on human wastes in water but some chemical wastes now stump the experts.

Dr. Porterfield said some standards have been set on flouride wastes but on other chemical refuse such as metallic ions, chloride or sodium there now is no safe standard to judge their effect on the consumer.

Some chemical wastes in water now are judged for safety, he said, only on a "Does it look, smell and taste all right?" basis.

"And," he asks, "how do we know below the taste and smell level in what way these wastes over a period of time will affect the human body?"

One example of the industry vs public dilemma shows up in the Muskingum Valley area where residents are drinking "salt water" and complaining about it. But, Dr. Porterfield says, brine waste is a difficult chemical refuse to treat. The brine comes from a chemical plant located at the headwaters of the Tuscarawas River.

Carbolic acid flows into the Ohio River from steel plants along its banks, Dr. Porterfield said.

Industry is trying to help the situation and has turned loose some of its best experts to probe waste treatment methods. There is the Industry Action Committee of the Ohio River Valley Water Sanitation Committee.

Industry also maintains it is handicapped by not knowing how to treat certain chemical wastes and, where "practical" treatment can be applied, by the time and money involved.

In its annual report, the control board points out it seeks compliance first by education and cooperation and in most cases industry is cooperating. But can the board, which issues permits for discharge of waste into state waters, force compliance when there is no recognized solution to a particular type of chemical waste disposal? That, Dr. Porterfield said, is the big problem. Apparently, the only solution would be for the plant to shut down.

Most industries now have permits but 13 chemical industries and 11 miscellaneous industries are being brought under the program this year.

One example of waste treatment facilities installed since creation of the board in 1951 is at the Cleveland tank plant, Cadillac motor car division of General Motors, Inc.

It started its waste treatment plant in 1951 and began operation in 1952. Most of the wastes are soluble oils treated extensively before discharge into Abrams Creek, a tributary to Rocky River.

Some industries say they can't afford such immediate action.

Pollution danger might seem more familiar when, as the department of natural resources says, it kills fish and where the board points out vapor from highly polluted streams even have discolored paint on some homes. Ohio's recent drought also intensified the pollution danger.

The board can require construction or modification of waste disposal units. And it can institute court action to compel compliance. On the other hand, orders of the board can be appealed to the courts. So far most of the board's program has been accomplished on a voluntary and cooperative basis.

Penicillin Finder Lauds Famed Drug

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The man who discovered penicillin, Sir Alexander Fleming of London, says that 10 years' experience with it has demonstrated that it is the least toxic of antibiotics.

"People have died of aspirin poisoning but none of penicillin poisoning," he told a group of newsmen. "You couldn't commit suicide with penicillin if you wanted to."

Furthermore, he said, only 2 to 6 per cent of those using penicillin developed any allergy, and many of these in only a minor degree.

12 Cleveland Cops Are Fired

CLEVELAND (AP)—Twelve policemen, including three captains and a lieutenant, were fired yesterday for failing to close a house of prostitution.

A lieutenant and four other patrolmen were suspended for periods ranging up to six months.

The verdicts, climaxing the gravest and one of the most sensational vice scandals in the history of the force, followed a lengthy hearing with Safety Director John N. McCormick sitting as judge.

Lad Gains, Loses

CLEVELAND (AP)—Seven-year-old Daniel Balmut got back a quarter he swallowed while watching a cowboy drama on television, but while doctors at the hospital had him open yesterday they also took out his appendix.

John Quincy Adams was the longest-lived United States President.

Improved Visibility, Overhaul Of Signs Also Suggested

Plans were in motion Friday to bring about major changes in the dangerous highway intersection at Leistville, the notorious "Dead Man's Crossing" formed by State Routes 56 and 159.

Announcement of the latest steps lined up to reduce the crossing's death toll came from Prosecutor William Ammer, leading figure in efforts to launch a new highway safety program in Pickaway County. The program in this area will be geared to a nationwide campaign requested some time ago by President Eisenhower.

Major changes contemplated for the crossing southeast of Circleville include more right-of-way to improve visibility, an overhaul of signs already at the location, and the installation of a flashing caution light.

Ammer released a report in which State Highways Director S. O. Linnell checked out of 11 recommendations made following a new survey. The latest checkpoint on the intersection, Linnell pointed out, was made at the request of Judge William D. Radcliff and the January term of the Pickaway County grand jury.

A SIMILAR study was made last year at the request of Ed Wallace, Pickaway County state representative. However, the report gave a Wallace at that time said it appeared little could be done to reduce the crossing's death toll "unless motorists read the signs" sprinkled all over the vicinity. Pickaway County Engineer Henry McCrady has since estimated that 40-some signs are placed around the crossing, a large percentage of them urging caution and reduced speed.

Wallace and several other district officials called attention to the dangerous conditions at Leistville prior to the latest survey. Ammer indicated the Leistville problem may be one of the first matters officially brought to the attention of the newly formed highway safety group here.

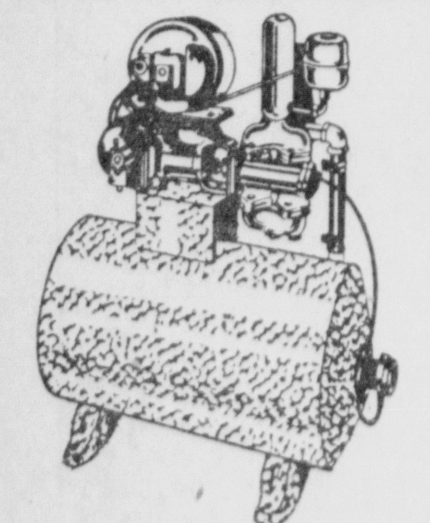

The committee may also be asked to study the possibility of barring trucks carrying explosives from using Court Street and other streets in the heart of Circleville.

In his report to Ammer, outlining the new steps in mind for the 56-and-159 intersection, Linnell wrote in part:

"We have made a thorough check of the reported accident experience (at the Leistville crossing) and also we have studied the traffic pattern and the physical facts at this location. An analysis has been completed of the findings, with the result that some 11 recommendations have been made.

"While it is not necessary to bother you with all the details, I am certain that you will be interested to learn that among the several points recommended are:

Sale Of Town To Be Tried Again

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government has decided to reject all offers to buy a little town in Ohio it is trying to sell for $1,200,000, and start over with new bids.

Public Housing Administration had received "about a dozen" bids on Maple Grove Park in Windham, a war housing community of 1,006 rental units, gas station and stores. Some 4,000 people live there.

The agency announced there had been "so much confusion" over proper bidding form that all bids had been thrown out.

Tierney-Ally Khan Visit Interrupted

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Gene Tierney today interrupts her rendezvous with Ally Khan at Rosarito Beach, Mexico, her studio says, to resume work at Mojave, Calif., on a movie.

Twentieth Century-Fox said yesterday it was sending a private plane to bring the actress to the film location.

Attendees at the Rosarito Beach Hotel, 17 miles south of the California border, said the prince might remain there three weeks. Miss Tierney told newsmen Tuesday they will wed within six months, probably in France.

Ohio Men Given Life Sentences

MIDDLETOWN (AP)—Harold L. Burkhardt, 18, of Camden, and Richard E. Nolan, 22, of Middletown, pleaded guilty yesterday to second degree murder in the death of Herschel L. Sorrell, 31, of West Middletown.

They were sentenced to life imprisonment. Sorrell was robbed last November, stripped of his clothing, beaten and abandoned on a highway. He died later in a hospital.

flashing signal. 2. Acquisition of additional right-of-way to open up visibility. 3. Complete overhauling of signs and pavement markings.

"I have good reason to believe that upon the final accomplishment of the various improvements proposed, all of us will feel that steps have been taken to overcome the known hazards and that greater safety will be the result."

Linnell thanked all those responsible for the interest shown in traffic safety for the district.

Doctor Says Many Ohioans Drink 'Second-Hand' Water

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Most Ohioans are drinking second-hand water. And the cool drink may be loaded with mysterious chemical wastes that could endanger your health. That's what the doctor said.

In this case the doctor is John D. Porterfield, director of the state department of health and chairman of the Ohio Water Pollution Control Board.

Most people in Ohio drink surface waters. And these waters before gushing from the kitchen tap often have been used as disposal units for industry.

Dr. Porterfield's statements followed the recent release of the pollution board's annual report for 1953.

The pollution problem, as Dr. Porterfield sees it, boils down to one tough question. In cases of chemical pollution where there is "no practical solution" for waste treatment, who has the prior right to the stream—industry or the public?

Research, he said, has not yet fully disclosed to what extent some chemical refuse disturbs the safety-purity of water.

This situation, according to the doctor, could open up a whole new field of waterborne diseases and intestinal infections.

The U. S. Public Health Service sets bacteria standards on human wastes in water but some chemical wastes now stump the experts.

Dr. Porterfield said some standards have been set on flouride wastes but on other chemical refuse such as metallic ions, chloride or sodium there now is no safe standard to judge their effect on the consumer.

Some chemical wastes in water now are judged for safety, he said, only on a "Does it look, smell and taste all right?" basis.

"And," he asks, "how do we know below the taste and smell level in what way these wastes over a period of time will affect the human body?"

One example of the industry vs public dilemma shows up in the Muskingum Valley area where residents are drinking "salt water" and complaining about it. But, Dr. Porterfield says, brine waste is a difficult chemical refuse to treat. The brine comes from a chemical plant located at the headwaters of the Tuscarawas River.

Carbolic acid flows into the Ohio River from steel plants along its banks, Dr. Porterfield said.

Industry is trying to help the situation and has turned loose some of its best experts to probe waste treatment methods. There is the Industry Action Committee of the Ohio River Valley Water Sanitation Committee.

Industry also maintains it is handicapped by not knowing how to treat certain chemical wastes and, where "practical" treatment can be applied, by the time and money involved.

In its annual report, the control board points out it seeks compli-

Penicillin Finder Lauds Famed Drug

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The man who discovered penicillin, Sir Alexander Fleming of London, says that 10 years' experience with it has demonstrated that it is the least toxic of antibiotics.

"People have died of aspirin poisoning but none of penicillin poisoning," he told a group of newsmen. "You couldn't commit suicide with penicillin if you wanted to."

Furthermore, he said, only 2 to 6 per cent of those using penicillin developed any allergy, and many of these in only a minor degree.

12 Cleveland Cops Are Fired

CLEVELAND (AP)—Twelve policemen, including three captains and a lieutenant, were fired yesterday for failing to close a house of prostitution.

A lieutenant and four other patrolmen were suspended for periods ranging up to six months.

The verdicts, climaxing the gravest and one of the most sensational vice scandals in the history of the force, followed a lengthy hearing with Safety Director John N. McCormick sitting as judge.

Lad Gains, Loses

CLEVELAND (AP)—Seven-year-old Daniel Balmut got back a quarter he swallowed while watching a cowboy drama on television, but while doctors at the hospital had him open yesterday they also took out his appendix.

John Quincy Adams was the longest-lived United States President.
